Meet Chris, our Founder and Managing Director.

It all began when Chris met a courier in an elevator in 1997. Realising there was a niche in the logistics industry picking up and lodging business' mail, Chris borrowed $10k from his Mum and got cracking.

Today, MailPlus provides eCommerce merchants with a faster shipping solution, moves millions of parcels each year and gives 30,000+ customers unexpected levels of service.

Chris says this is all thanks to his amazing team who support him daily, and the 300+ dedicated owner-operators that help him keep driving the business forward.

As a Franchise-business owner, you're able to contact Chris Burgess anytime you need. Chris actively works across the business every day and is respected by the 300+ franchise-owners and operators across Australia.

Strengths of the MailPlus Franchise system.

A mature and stable model professionally managed through a high-level of operational management experience and IT systems.

Quality selection process

- We strive to continuously create a diverse and motivated franchise network.
- Some of our epic, experienced team were even franchise-owners themselves—so they are pros at selecting the people who have the skillset to grow a successful business.

Well-structured franchise agreement

- The robust agreement complies with the franchise code and is meticulously reviewed and updated by specialist counsel.
- Independently reviewed by Australia Post, it's also been tested by the legal teams of every franchisee applicant since 1997. The result? A balanced agreement that aligns all parties' interests.

Diverse customer profile

- Exciting opportunities exist across small to medium businesses that employ approx. 870,000 staff nationally (ABS 2020).
- The increase in demand for eCommerce shipping has further fuelled new customer growth.

Data & IT systems

- MailPlus has a purpose-built IT system used to store data, streamline operational activities, and manage the flow of funds.
- Each operator uses a custom mobile app to easily record daily activities for monthly invoicing.
- Our integrations with global carrier TOLL and the eCommerce platform Shopify have accelerated our pivot into the eCommerce market.

Established financial controls

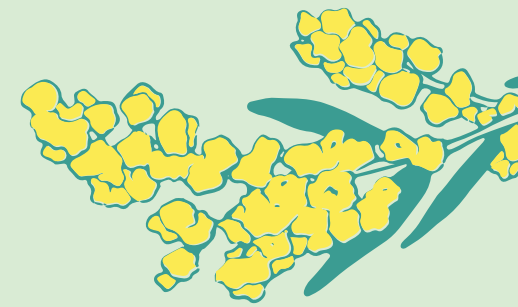

- MailPlus generates 8000+ monthly invoices with the process managed by the Finance department.
- This means we have predictability and certainty of earnings.

Innovation and cohesion of the MailPlus management team

- The team have the skills that empower them to make agile and strategic decisions, with key members being part of the MailPlus family for more than ten years.
 - A traffic-light system monitors and manages franchise performance and directs additional support when required.

Be part of the freight and logistics industry that's worth $110 billion annually.

Did you know that Aussie deliveries increased 80% YOY in 2020? Yeah, that's a lot of parcels.

MailPlus has been capitalising on this eCommerce boom and now has more than 30,000 business customers, moving hundreds of thousands of deliveries a week. And we're still growing.

From our core Post Office services to our MailPlus Express solution, our owner-operators are always set-up for success.

We have a strong Sales and Marketing department, among other integral departments, who are laser focused on attracting new customers for our franchise base.

Your business is our business, so we always put you first.

Our market-led Value Proposition.

MailPlus customers come from three main business sectors and industries.

1. eCommerce merchants in the B2C market.

We offer merchants MailPlus Express, the only true express service on the market with flat-rate prices and guaranteed, same-day pickup.

MailPlus Express is satchel express service with a national freight network, helping eCommerce merchants to get products up to 5kgs to their customers faster.

2. Small to medium sized businesses in the B2B market.

Our core Post Office services offer pickup and delivery services for businesses such as corporate enterprises, schools, lawyer offices, dentists and more. (Even eCommerce merchants!)

These services include clearing PO Boxes and delivering mail and parcels to the receiver. It also entails collecting and lodging outgoing Aus Post mail and parcels at the Post Office on their behalf.

Other add-on services include providing business customers with Aus Post products and express banking.

3. Large delivery carriers and platforms.

We are proud to support the biggest logistics companies in Australia with first and last-mile delivery solutions, helping them bridge the gap as the volume of parcels continues to increase.

The likes of Australia Post, TOLL and Sendle are now relying on us to help serve their customers. This means more volume and revenue streams for our Franchisees.

What will I be doing on a day-to-day basis?

Delivering to consumers, picking up parcels for same-day lodgment and looking for new opportunities.

- Pickup and lodge MailPlus Express products
- Clear and deliver mail from local Post Office bases
- Pickup and lodge Australia Post items, like Express Post
- Collect and lodge express banking in your area
- Face-to-face prospecting for new customers

As the face of your MailPlus business, it's expected you'll show up on time, every time and in uniform.

We'll help you profile your territory so you're offering tailored solutions that make sense to your customers.

Meet Ratu

Bryon Bay business-owner

Ratu is the newest franchisee who took hold of the Byron business as we pivoted into the eCommerce sector with our fast, reliable express service.

When COVID hit the festival industry where his career was for the past 26 years, Ratu knew it was time to explore other opportunities that suited his outgoing and caring personality.

“While the festival industry and the logistics industry are completely different, it didn’t take long to realise my skills were indeed the perfect fit and I had made the right choice,” Ratu says.

“The MailPlus team are always there for support along the way. From operational support and customer service to the marketing department, I’ve been impressed by the level of commitment of those in the wider team at head office.”

“Becoming an owner-operator of a small business that helps other small businesses every day has been extremely rewarding. My customers are more than my customers, they have become people I call my friends.”

Meet Jonathan (Jono)

Melbourne business-owner

Jono has been a MailPlus Franchise-owner for almost ten years and today his business employs a handful of drivers who support him run the business and achieve success.

“Over the past eight years I’ve seen substantial growth,” Jono says.

“The biggest opportunity that I see in a COVID-normal world are those people working from home, whether they are working for another business or starting up their own as an online merchant. Our point of difference is that we not only deliver to people’s homes, but we can also pick up all outgoing mail and deliveries and lodge on their behalf.”

“In most cases, for under $20 a customer can have a delivery picked up by a MailPlus operator from their home and it will be delivered within 48 hours anywhere in Australia. It goes to show our value proposition is as strong as ever.”

Commonly asked questions.

“How do I find, and keep, new customers?”

Our dedicated Marketing and Sales team are laser focused on finding you new and exciting customers for all our services. We also have a Customer Service team who always go above and beyond.

“How is my business supported?”

Continuing from our Sales, Marketing and Customer Service departments, we also have highly experienced Finance, Operations, and IT Systems departments. You'll be supported by all these teams daily so you don't have to worry about the back end of your business.

“Who looks after my territory while I'm on holiday?”

Our Operations team have been franchise-owners themselves, so they can guide you with the best plan to ensure you can take a well-deserved holiday or emergency relief.

“How much does a franchise cost and is there financial support to help me make the purchase?”

The cost of a franchise is based on what value you buy into, whether it is a new or existing business with existing clients. MailPlus banking accreditation means you can finance most of the purchase and get started with a smaller sum amount.

“Is their financial support to purchase and wrap a new van?”

Yes, we can help combine the finance of the business with an approved van to ensure you're putting your best foot, or should we say wheels, forward.

“Why should I choose MailPlus?”

There's blue-sky opportunity with the industry's COVID-proof sector that is continuing to grow both organically and exponentially.

We answer these questions and more in further detail during the next phase in your application.

Real people. Real experiences. Their words.

“Super-fast and reliable mailing service. Pretty much all my parcels, 90% and above, have arrived next day Australia-wild. IT’S WILD! Reliable AF and heaps better than many used for the past 10+ years in my business.”
